

COMFORT COLORS

1717 58 COLORS

LONG DETAILED LIFESTYLE
PROMPTS
♡

BLANK MOCKUP PROMPTS ♡

CLEAN
PRINT
AREAS
♡

FOR ETSY
+ POD ♡

COMFORT COLORS 1717

58-COLOR BLANK MOCKUP PROMPT PACK

Long-form lifestyle prompts • completely blank shirts • clean print areas • garment-dyed 1717-style construction

COLOR PALETTE — 58 COLORS

Swatches below are visual prompt references; screen and supplier color appearance can vary.

 Banana	 Bay	 Berry	 Black	 Blossom
 Blue Jean	 Blue Spruce	 Brick	 Bright Salmon	 Burnt Orange
 Butter	 Chalky Mint	 Chambray	 Chili	 China Blue
 Citrus	 Crimson	 Crunchberry	 Cumin	 Denim
 Espresso	 Flo Blue	 Granite	 Grape	 Graphite
 Grass	 Grey	 Hemp	 Ice Blue	 Island Reef
 Island Green	 Ivory	 Khaki	 Lagoon Blue	 Light Green
 Mustard	 Melon	 Midnight	 Moss	 Mystic Blue
 Navy	 Orchid	 Peony	 Pepper	 Periwinkle
 Red	 Royal Caribe	 Sage	 Seafoam	 Terracotta
 Topaz Blue	 True Navy	 Vineyard	 Violet	 Washed Denim
 Watermelon	 White	 Yam

01. BANANA — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing naturally in a bright airy cream living room with pale linen curtains, a light oak console and one subtle leafy plant, styled with relaxed straight-leg light-wash denim. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Banana (visual reference approximately #F1DEA0). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Banana color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

02. BAY — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman seated naturally on the edge of a neutral linen sofa in a softly sunlit modern living room with warm cream walls and minimal organic decor, styled with casual vintage-wash jeans. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Bay (visual reference approximately #94A596). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Bay color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

03. BERRY — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing in front of a pale warm stucco garden wall with restrained soft-focus greenery and natural daylight, styled with relaxed medium-wash denim. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Berry (visual reference approximately #7E4966). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Berry color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

04. BLACK — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing in a clean minimalist loft with white plaster walls, warm wood flooring and subtle window light, styled with high-rise relaxed jeans. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Black (visual reference approximately #252525). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Black color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

05. BLOSSOM — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman casually leaning near a textured ivory plaster wall in a refined neutral home interior with a small wood bench and soft natural shadows, styled with classic blue jeans. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Blossom (visual reference approximately #E8BCC5). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Blossom color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

06. BLUE JEAN — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing outdoors beside a clean cream exterior wall with a hint of blurred greenery and warm late-morning light, styled with casual straight-leg denim. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Blue Jean (visual reference approximately #6E879C). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Blue Jean color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

07. BLUE SPRUCE — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman seated on a simple light-wood stool in a bright professional lifestyle studio with an off-white seamless wall and very minimal decor, styled with relaxed jeans. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Blue Spruce (visual reference approximately #4E7772). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Blue Spruce color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

08. BRICK — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing in a softly lit bedroom with warm white walls, linen bedding and restrained neutral styling, wearing casual light-wash jeans. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Brick (visual reference approximately #A65446). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Brick color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

09. BRIGHT SALMON — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing near a large sunlit window in a modern neutral apartment with soft cream curtains and light oak accents, styled with relaxed denim. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Bright Salmon (visual reference approximately #EF7E72). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Bright Salmon color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

10. BURNT ORANGE — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing against a softly textured beige studio wall with a small dried-grass arrangement far to one side, styled with clean medium-wash jeans. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Burnt Orange (visual reference approximately #B85D37). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Burnt Orange color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

11. BUTTER — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing on a bright covered porch with a pale wall, natural wood detail and soft greenery in the background, styled with casual denim. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Butter (visual reference approximately #F4E7AE). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Butter color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

12. CHALKY MINT — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman seated casually on a pale wood bench against a clean cream wall in a warm editorial studio, styled with relaxed jeans. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Chalky Mint (visual reference approximately #A9C9B7). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Chalky Mint color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

13. CHAMBRAY — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult man standing naturally in a bright neutral loft with warm oak details and soft window light, styled with relaxed straight-leg denim. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Chambray (visual reference approximately #B7D5DF). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Chambray color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

14. CHILI — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult man outdoors against a pale stucco wall with subtle greenery, wearing casual faded jeans and a natural relaxed pose. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Chili (visual reference approximately #9D3E43). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Chili color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

15. CHINA BLUE — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman in a sunlit neutral kitchen with cream cabinetry and light wood accents, styled with high-rise relaxed denim. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in China Blue (visual reference approximately #577B91). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The China Blue color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

16. CITRUS — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing beside a softly textured plaster archway in a warm Mediterranean-inspired interior, styled with vintage-wash jeans. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Citrus (visual reference approximately #D4C95C). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Citrus color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

17. CRIMSON — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing naturally in a bright airy cream living room with pale linen curtains, a light oak console and one subtle leafy plant, styled with relaxed straight-leg light-wash denim. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Crimson (visual reference approximately #A64650). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Crimson color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

18. CRUNCHBERRY — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman seated naturally on the edge of a neutral linen sofa in a softly sunlit modern living room with warm cream walls and minimal organic decor, styled with casual vintage-wash jeans. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Crunchberry (visual reference approximately #D95670). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Crunchberry color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

19. CUMIN — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing in front of a pale warm stucco garden wall with restrained soft-focus greenery and natural daylight, styled with relaxed medium-wash denim. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Cumin (visual reference approximately #A87348). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Cumin color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

20. DENIM — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing in a clean minimalist loft with white plaster walls, warm wood flooring and subtle window light, styled with high-rise relaxed jeans. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Denim (visual reference approximately #425563). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Denim color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

21. ESPRESSO — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman casually leaning near a textured ivory plaster wall in a refined neutral home interior with a small wood bench and soft natural shadows, styled with classic blue jeans. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Espresso (visual reference approximately #5A433A). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Espresso color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

22. FLO BLUE — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing outdoors beside a clean cream exterior wall with a hint of blurred greenery and warm late-morning light, styled with casual straight-leg denim. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Flo Blue (visual reference approximately #4F8FC5). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Flo Blue color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

23. GRANITE — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman seated on a simple light-wood stool in a bright professional lifestyle studio with an off-white seamless wall and very minimal decor, styled with relaxed jeans. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Granite (visual reference approximately #777875). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Granite color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

24. GRAPE — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing in a softly lit bedroom with warm white walls, linen bedding and restrained neutral styling, wearing casual light-wash jeans. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Grape (visual reference approximately #6E587D). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Grape color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

25. GRAPHITE — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing near a large sunlit window in a modern neutral apartment with soft cream curtains and light oak accents, styled with relaxed denim. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Graphite (visual reference approximately #4B4C4B). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Graphite color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

26. GRASS — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing against a softly textured beige studio wall with a small dried-grass arrangement far to one side, styled with clean medium-wash jeans. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Grass (visual reference approximately #6D9668). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Grass color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

27. GREY — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing on a bright covered porch with a pale wall, natural wood detail and soft greenery in the background, styled with casual denim. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Grey (visual reference approximately #9B9E96). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Grey color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

28. HEMP — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman seated casually on a pale wood bench against a clean cream wall in a warm editorial studio, styled with relaxed jeans. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Hemp (visual reference approximately #A89D7D). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Hemp color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

29. ICE BLUE — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult man standing naturally in a bright neutral loft with warm oak details and soft window light, styled with relaxed straight-leg denim. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Ice Blue (visual reference approximately #C9DEE2). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Ice Blue color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

30. ISLAND REEF — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult man outdoors against a pale stucco wall with subtle greenery, wearing casual faded jeans and a natural relaxed pose. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Island Reef (visual reference approximately #88C9BE). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Island Reef color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

31. ISLAND GREEN — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman in a sunlit neutral kitchen with cream cabinetry and light wood accents, styled with high-rise relaxed denim. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Island Green (visual reference approximately #5F9D8F). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Island Green color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

32. IVORY — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing beside a softly textured plaster archway in a warm Mediterranean-inspired interior, styled with vintage-wash jeans. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Ivory (visual reference approximately #EEE5D0). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Ivory color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

33. KHAKI — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing naturally in a bright airy cream living room with pale linen curtains, a light oak console and one subtle leafy plant, styled with relaxed straight-leg light-wash denim. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Khaki (visual reference approximately #9E9579). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Khaki color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

34. LAGOON BLUE — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman seated naturally on the edge of a neutral linen sofa in a softly sunlit modern living room with warm cream walls and minimal organic decor, styled with casual vintage-wash jeans. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Lagoon Blue (visual reference approximately #4EAAA9). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Lagoon Blue color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

35. LIGHT GREEN — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing in front of a pale warm stucco garden wall with restrained soft-focus greenery and natural daylight, styled with relaxed medium-wash denim. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Light Green (visual reference approximately #789B83). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Light Green color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

36. MUSTARD — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing in a clean minimalist loft with white plaster walls, warm wood flooring and subtle window light, styled with high-rise relaxed jeans. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Mustard (visual reference approximately #D5A143). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Mustard color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

37. MELON — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman casually leaning near a textured ivory plaster wall in a refined neutral home interior with a small wood bench and soft natural shadows, styled with classic blue jeans. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Melon (visual reference approximately #E58C78). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Melon color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

38. MIDNIGHT — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing outdoors beside a clean cream exterior wall with a hint of blurred greenery and warm late-morning light, styled with casual straight-leg denim. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Midnight (visual reference approximately #344451). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Midnight color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

39. MOSS — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman seated on a simple light-wood stool in a bright professional lifestyle studio with an off-white seamless wall and very minimal decor, styled with relaxed jeans. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Moss (visual reference approximately #687967). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Moss color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

40. MYSTIC BLUE — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing in a softly lit bedroom with warm white walls, linen bedding and restrained neutral styling, wearing casual light-wash jeans. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Mystic Blue (visual reference approximately #718B9C). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Mystic Blue color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

41. NAVY — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing near a large sunlit window in a modern neutral apartment with soft cream curtains and light oak accents, styled with relaxed denim. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Navy (visual reference approximately #29364B). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Navy color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

42. ORCHID — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing against a softly textured beige studio wall with a small dried-grass arrangement far to one side, styled with clean medium-wash jeans. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Orchid (visual reference approximately #D4C2DA). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Orchid color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

43. PEONY — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing on a bright covered porch with a pale wall, natural wood detail and soft greenery in the background, styled with casual denim. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Peony (visual reference approximately #D9889F). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Peony color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

44. PEPPER — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman seated casually on a pale wood bench against a clean cream wall in a warm editorial studio, styled with relaxed jeans. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Pepper (visual reference approximately #454545). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Pepper color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

45. PERIWINKLE — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult man standing naturally in a bright neutral loft with warm oak details and soft window light, styled with relaxed straight-leg denim. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Periwinkle (visual reference approximately #8E94C1). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Periwinkle color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

46. RED — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult man outdoors against a pale stucco wall with subtle greenery, wearing casual faded jeans and a natural relaxed pose. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Red (visual reference approximately #C9252D). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Red color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

47. ROYAL CARIBE — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman in a sunlit neutral kitchen with cream cabinetry and light wood accents, styled with high-rise relaxed denim. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Royal Caribe (visual reference approximately #3C8FA5). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Royal Caribe color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

48. SAGE — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing beside a softly textured plaster archway in a warm Mediterranean-inspired interior, styled with vintage-wash jeans. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Sage (visual reference approximately #9DA891). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Sage color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

49. SEAFOAM — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing naturally in a bright airy cream living room with pale linen curtains, a light oak console and one subtle leafy plant, styled with relaxed straight-leg light-wash denim. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Seafoam (visual reference approximately #66B7AD). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Seafoam color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

50. TERRACOTTA — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman seated naturally on the edge of a neutral linen sofa in a softly sunlit modern living room with warm cream walls and minimal organic decor, styled with casual vintage-wash jeans. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Terracotta (visual reference approximately #B86F59). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Terracotta color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

51. TOPAZ BLUE — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing in front of a pale warm stucco garden wall with restrained soft-focus greenery and natural daylight, styled with relaxed medium-wash denim. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Topaz Blue (visual reference approximately #4D91AD). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Topaz Blue color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

52. TRUE NAVY — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing in a clean minimalist loft with white plaster walls, warm wood flooring and subtle window light, styled with high-rise relaxed jeans. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in True Navy (visual reference approximately #253044). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The True Navy color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

53. VINEYARD — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman casually leaning near a textured ivory plaster wall in a refined neutral home interior with a small wood bench and soft natural shadows, styled with classic blue jeans. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Vineyard (visual reference approximately #765766). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Vineyard color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

54. VIOLET — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing outdoors beside a clean cream exterior wall with a hint of blurred greenery and warm late-morning light, styled with casual straight-leg denim. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Violet (visual reference approximately #AAA5D8). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Violet color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

55. WASHED DENIM — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman seated on a simple light-wood stool in a bright professional lifestyle studio with an off-white seamless wall and very minimal decor, styled with relaxed jeans. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Washed Denim (visual reference approximately #71889A). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Washed Denim color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

56. WATERMELON — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing in a softly lit bedroom with warm white walls, linen bedding and restrained neutral styling, wearing casual light-wash jeans. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Watermelon (visual reference approximately #F06D70). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Watermelon color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

57. WHITE — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing near a large sunlit window in a modern neutral apartment with soft cream curtains and light oak accents, styled with relaxed denim. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in White (visual reference approximately #F7F7F4). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The White color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.

58. YAM — BLANK 1717 MOCKUP

Create a high-end photorealistic lifestyle T-shirt mockup featuring an adult woman standing against a softly textured beige studio wall with a small dried-grass arrangement far to one side, styled with clean medium-wash jeans. The model is wearing a completely plain, blank Comfort Colors 1717-style heavyweight garment-dyed unisex crewneck T-shirt in Yam (visual reference approximately #C96E47). Reproduce the recognizable character of a premium 1717-style garment-dyed tee: 6.1 oz heavyweight-feel ring-spun cotton, soft-washed surface, relaxed tubular unisex body, slightly roomy torso, natural sleeve width, softly structured ribbed crew neckline, double-needle-style finished edges, subtle dye variation, and an authentic broken-in vintage hand. The fit should feel relaxed and comfortably oversized without becoming shapeless, stretched, cropped, fitted, thin, or fashion-forward. Keep the shirt as the unmistakable visual focal point and preserve believable garment weight and drape. BLANK SHIRT LOCK: the entire visible shirt must remain absolutely blank. No text, lettering, artwork, graphic, logo, embroidery, pocket print, chest print, sleeve print, neck print, monogram, symbol, icon, pattern, transfer, patch, label graphic, watermark, placeholder, "YOUR DESIGN HERE", pseudo-text, random marks, accidental letters, decorative motif, or generated design may appear anywhere on the garment. PRINT AREA LOCK: preserve a large, clean, usable front print zone extending from below the collar through the upper and middle torso. The center chest must face the camera clearly, remain visually open, and stay relatively smooth while still showing realistic natural fabric. Allow only soft vertical drape and gentle wrinkles near the side seams, sleeves, waist, and lower hem. Avoid deep horizontal folds, severe bunching, twisted fabric, crossed arms, folded arms, hands over the torso, hair across the chest, necklaces hanging into the print zone, purses, straps, jackets, cardigans, scarves, cups, flowers, phones, or props blocking the shirt. Keep both arms relaxed and naturally positioned away from the printable area. Hair must remain behind the shoulders or outside the central chest. Use a subtle three-quarter body stance if helpful, but keep the shirt front visually square and easy to composite with a PNG later. Show enough torso for a standard large POD print to fit naturally without appearing cramped. Do not crop through the main printable chest area. Render convincing cotton fibers, rib-knit collar texture, shoulder taping impression, believable sleeve and bottom hems, authentic garment-dyed tonal irregularity, and realistic thickness. The Yam color should read clearly and consistently under neutral lighting without unwanted color cast. Use soft professional lifestyle photography, natural skin texture, realistic adult anatomy, accurate hands and proportions, subtle depth of field, and flattering commercial light. Keep the garment itself sharp and detailed. Avoid artificial HDR, plastic skin, excessive smoothing, harsh flash, extreme contrast, crushed blacks, blown highlights, neon oversaturation, dramatic colored lighting, heavy vignette, or blur across the shirt. Compose the scene like a premium Etsy/POD listing image: uncluttered, current, warm, believable, aspirational but not overly staged, with generous breathing room and a clean background that complements rather than competes with the shirt. No visible manufacturer branding, hang tag, brand label, trademark, copyrighted character, celebrity likeness, watermark, mockup watermark, product branding, fake signage, or unintended readable background text anywhere in the image.